

Vending Machines Once Again Bring Charitable Giving to the World this Holiday Season

"Giving Machines" Make Donating to Charity as Easy as Buying a Soda or Candy Bar

Employing one of the most common and easily understood transactional platforms — the vending machine — Giving Machines make it easy for holiday do-gooders to make a donation to local and global charities. Giving Machines provide people a hassle-free way to indulge their altruistic impulses and donate items ranging in price from $7 to $100 and include vaccines, meals, chickens and goats, community wells, menstrual kits, fruit trees and soccer balls.

The Giving Machines were first introduced in 2017 in Salt Lake City. In 2024, Giving Machines will be in more than 100 cities around the globe — twice as many as last holiday season. In the United States, the Giving Machines will be in 32 states, making their inaugural appearance in cities such as Detroit, Oklahoma City, San Diego and Anchorage while returning once again to places like New York City, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Austin, Seattle and Kansas City. Internationally, Giving Machines will be in 11 nations, including Kenya, the UK, Panama, the Philippines, Mexico and Australia, as well as in Hong Kong (see inside for list and map). Worldwide, more than 450 charities will be benefactors of donations made through Giving Machines. National charities participating this year include American Red Cross, UNICEF, CARE, WaterAid and Catholic Relief Services (see inside for a full list).

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints hosts the Light the World Giving Machine campaign annually as an easy way for people to make donations to vetted local and global charities during the holidays and, as host, covers all operational costs, ensuring that 100% of every donation goes to the giver's desired charitable cause.

Church World Services

Church World Service was born in the wake of the devastation of World War II. Seventeen Christian denominations came together "to do in partnership what none of us could hope to do as well alone." CWS has one goal: building a world where there is enough for all. After 77 years moving toward this goal, we have the faith and experience to know it's possible. Working around the world, we've seen gardens flourishing in barren land. Migrants and refugees finding a home after every door has been closed. Houses standing strong against nature's worst disasters. That's the power of compassion at work when it links to human resilience.

"The true spirit of giving always causes us to think of others and act in fellowship. It speaks to the needs of our immediate families and often extends beyond to our global one. It fuels our compassion and drives our willingness to give. In this season of giving, one of the very best gifts we can offer is not just a 'present,' but the future ... a sustainable one where a family much like our own no longer worries about having a safe place to call home, a meal on their table, or hope - real hope - for a better tomorrow. And that's what this effort really is about. By choosing to give at a Giving Machine, you can provide families in need with the building blocks for generational change."

- Rick Santos, President & CEO, CWS

Catholic Relief Services

In carrying out this mission, CRS collaborates across civil society and the public and private sectors, engaging people at every level—individual, family, community, regional, national and international—to promote transformative and sustainable change.

"This initiative has been so inspiring to be a part of. To see so many people come together to support diverse organizations that are carrying out life-saving and innovative work helps provide hope for all of us. Sometimes there is a fear of fatigue around issues of charity, but this initiative is proving otherwise. Catholic Relief Services is proud to be a part of this unique endeavor that can bring people together for a collective impact to best serve those in need."

"My favorite [principle] I learned through Academy training is 'Keep Good Records.' Everywhere I go, I carry my record book along! I own a business now and I sell for profit. With the profit I make, I am able to take care of my family and save something towards the growth of the business. I can say there is more peace in my heart since I started making money on my own, and this is something I'm grateful for."
